

Mr. Speaker, I urge strong support for this legislation. It is responsible, it addresses a serious local need, it fulfills expressed goals of both the 104th Congress and the administration, but most importantly—it makes sense.

RETIREMENT OF KANSAS CITY
POLICE CHIEF STEVEN BISHOP

HON. KAREN MCCARTHY

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 9, 1995

Ms. MCCARTHY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Steven Bishop, who is retiring on December 1, 1995 after serving a distinguished 25 years with the Kansas City, MO Police Department, the last 5 years as chief of police.

Throughout his tenure, Chief Bishop has demonstrated an admirable willingness to face the toughest issues. Shortly after taking office, Chief Bishop appointed a task force of Police commanders, clergy and community leaders to study ways in which officers could better communicate and work with citizens to deter crime. A community policing force eventually was established, partnering neighbors with officers throughout our community.

His ongoing pursuit to build a safer community is further evidenced by his work on the Governor's Commission on Crime and the President's Committee on Drug-Free Schools. These and other anti-crime efforts have earned him national recognition. Among Chief Bishop's honors was a special appearance at President Clinton's State of the Union Address earlier this year at which the President paid tribute to him for his outstanding efforts and leadership.

Chief Bishop's interest in law enforcement began well before his days as police chief. In 1970, 3 years after leaving the Marine Corps as a Vietnam veterans, Bishop graduated from Central Missouri State University with a degree in police administration.

While serving as a police officer, Bishop continued to develop his skills and abilities by earning a master's degree in personnel management from Central Michigan University and attending numerous training conferences and seminars. Over the years, he participated in the sergeants supervisory leadership course, the officer survival seminar, the national hostage negotiations seminar, the national organized crime training seminar, and the 147th session of the F.B.I. National Academy.

Not surprisingly, Bishop's impressive aptitude and positive attitude soon won him respect and promotions. He advanced to the rank of sergeant in 1975, captain in 1980, major in 1987, lieutenant colonel in 1989, and chief of police in 1990. He was only 43 years old when he was sworn in to head the department on June 14, 1990.

Chief Bishop's list of accolades includes being named the Ad Hoc Police Officer of the Year in 1988 for his efforts to fight drugs on the City's East Side, and the ABC News "Person of the Week" for his work to foster better relations between the police and the community.

In light of his 25 years of outstanding service to the Kansas City Police Department and the people of Kansas City, I know that my colleagues in the House join with me in honoring Steven Bishop. We certainly wish Chief Bishop all the best in his future endeavors. His leadership will be sorely missed in my district. Thanks, Chief.

RED RIBBON DRUG AWARENESS
WEEK ACTIVITIES

HON. BENJAMIN A. GILMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 9, 1995

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to rise to acknowledge the excellent work, and important efforts, against drug abuse that the annual Red Ribbon Drug Awareness Campaign represents across America, each and every year around this time.

The work that the many community organizations, and groups are doing as part of this annual drug awareness program and the importance of the educational message of a drug-free society, especially for our young people, is vital in this day and age of rising drug use.

A recent University of Michigan study on the latest alarming rise in drug use, especially among the young, made it clear that each new generation must learn the hard lessons of drug abuse. That learning can and must be accelerated through valuable drug awareness programs.

These programs, and efforts like the Red Ribbon Awareness effort, help provide the opportunities for those hard and costly lessons to be learned by each new generation before it's too late, and our young are on the road to addiction and ruin.

In March of this year, former First Lady Nancy Reagan, famous for her own well recognized and effective, just say no, drug educational efforts, testified before our House Committee on Government Reform and Oversight, in which she said, "After great strides that were made just a few years back, I'm worried that this Nation is forgetting how endangered our children are by drugs."

Let us together not permit America to forget that drug prevention, through education of our young, is critical to avoiding devastating long-term costs and damage from drug abuse by our children and future generations.

It was gratifying to note that President Clinton announced that there will be a teenage drug use White House conference in January to address the alarming rise in youth drug use.

Our young people, I know, will surely benefit from the valuable learning and awareness from these efforts of Red Ribbon Week, such as that of the Orange County Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Council, and other important programs throughout the mid-Hudson region of New York State.

A POINT OF LIGHT FOR ALL AMERICANS: MARGARET ROSS

HON. MAJOR R. OWENS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 9, 1995

Mr. OWENS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to pay homage to Margaret Ross, who on August 31, 1995, ended her 32-year career with the New York City Board of Education. She is an individual who selflessly dedicated her life to children and parents. Throughout her professional career as a social worker, supervisor, and administrator she has been viewed by all whose lives she has touched as a knowledgeable, fair, and caring person. Margaret Ross is an outstanding citizen and deserves to be recognized as a great "point-of-light" for all Americans.

This longtime resident of Crown Heights, NY, in central Brooklyn, Ms. Ross is involved in many activities that contribute to the betterment of the community. She is a current member and past president of the Sterling Place Civic Association; a member of the Sterling Community Revitalization Corp.; a member of the Medgar Evers College Community Council; a member of the Brooklyn Women's Political Caucus; executive member of Thurgood Marshall Democratic Club; and an elected official of the Democratic Party serving as State committeewoman of the 43d assembly district. Ms. Ross serves as an executive member of the Coalition for Community Empowerment which was founded by Congressman MAJOR OWENS and is the leading policy setting organization for the African-American community in Brooklyn.

Margaret Ross' dedication transcends professional, personal, and religious domains. Realizing her knowledge, skill, and compassion early in life, Ms. Ross utilized her talent to empathize with people in need. Upon graduating from undergraduate school, she worked as a caseworker in the Department of Welfare. For a short time thereafter, Margaret Ross worked as a psychiatric social worker in Kings County Hospital and then joined the Bureau of Child Guidance of the New York City Board of Education. Subsequently, she became a supervisor of school social workers and 6 years ago, chairperson of the committee on special education in district 13.

In an effort to embrace her fellow professionals and to further develop her craft, Margaret Ross is also an active member of the National Association of Social Workers. Currently, she serves on the executive committee of the political action committee. Margaret Ross joined Delta Sigma Theta Sorority at Morgan State University and has continued her affiliation with the Brooklyn alumnae chapter to the present day. She currently serves on the social action committee of the Brooklyn chapter.

Ms. Ross began her service to her community and church early in life. She patterned herself after her mother, Alice Debnam, who was a prominent member of Concord Baptist Church. Widowed in her early 1940's, Mrs. Debnam kept Margaret and her two sisters centered with strong religious values and an emphasis on education and a work ethic. After attending Public School 44 and Girls High School in Brooklyn, Margaret Ross received her bachelor of arts degree from Morgan State University. This led her to Howard University where she received a master of social work degree. Subsequently, she attended Brooklyn College for a master's degree in administration and supervision. Margaret Ross is married to Kenneth Ross of Trinidad and Tobago; and they have one daughter, Joann. Ms. Ross is the aunt of Assemblyman Roger Green. Along with her sisters Theopia Green and Ruth
